Dear Valued Customer,

I'm proud to report that Marvell finalized its acquisition of Cavium today, creating an end-to-end solutions powerhouse with the portfolio and expertise to make your work easier, your business stronger, and your own customers happier.

The Marvell portfolio now spans processing, storage, networking, security and connectivity, positioning us to meet more of your needs than ever before. Rest assured our commitment to innovation and our determination to make your experience the best it can be continues and even gains momentum with this acquisition.

Mergers can sometimes be disruptive. But due to extensive preparation, we don't anticipate interruptions; you can plan on business as usual with your order contacts, backlog, and warranties. We expect our new scale and strength — with more than 5,000 employees and 12,000 patents — will make us a more valuable partner to you.

Until notified, please continue to work with your respective Marvell and/or Cavium Account Managers when forecasting and ordering products. We'll be in contact with you whenever we require you to do something differently from what you've done in the past.

With this in mind, we'd love to speak with you about your plans, and how our expanded portfolio might serve your needs better. We'll reach out in the coming weeks, but if you'd like to talk in the interim, please contact your account manager.

In the meantime, on behalf of our new company, thank you for your continued support.

Thomas Lagatta
